Didn't Match? Don't Worry!

If you're a fourth-year student pharmacist eager to make a difference through a post-doctoral residency, you can't go wrong with the 2010-2011 Executive Residency in Association Management/Health Policy offered by the Tennessee Pharmacists Association (TPA) and Tennessee Pharmacists Research and Education Foundation (TPREF).

You are a future leader in pharmacy and understand the contributions pharmacists can make to the future of health care. You want to build a career beyond what is currently available to you. You want an exciting, non-traditional job with a limitless future, but you don't want to leave pharmacy. You want to learn from, be mentored by, and become a current leader in health care...

Does this sound like you? If so, don't delay: Apply today for the fourth annual TPA/TPREF Executive Residency in Association Management/Health Policy for pharmacists. This program will allow the resident to learn firsthand how to be a leader in pharmacy during one of the most tumultuous times in the history of American health care. You will gain important skills that will help you be successful in any setting.

Why not experience the profession of pharmacy through an Executive Residency in Association Management? More information can be found on the TPA website at www.tnpharm.org, or by clicking HERE. The application deadline is March 31, 2010.
