OSHA UPDATE
Live Training Webinars

OPPORTUNITIES TO PARTICIPATE IN FALL 2016

If you are a pharmacist providing immunizations or CLIA-waived testing services, or a pharmacy technician or other health care professional assisting with these services, you must have live OSHA training on bloodborne pathogens every year or face fines of up to $90,000. The Tennessee Pharmacists Research and Education Foundation (TPREF) is offering a webinar that meets all of OSHA’s training requirements, including the live component. This webinar will provide attendees with one (1.0) hour of live ACPE Continuing Education.

PROGRAM: This ACPE-accredited OSHA training webinar meets all of OSHA’s annual training requirements for bloodborne pathogen exposure in pharmacy practice. The 2016 OSHA Update webinar can protect you and your pharmacy practice site against potentially devastating OSHA fines – and your pharmacy site can continue to protect the public against potentially devastating disease.

PRESENTER: The webinar program is presented online by Dr. Stephan Foster, PharmD, FAPhA, FNAP. Dr. Foster is a retired Captain in the U.S. Public Health Service and a retired Professor at the University of Tennessee College of Pharmacy. He is the APHA liaison to the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practice (ACIP). He is nationally known for his work on pharmacist-provided immunization and brings significant expertise in the area of bloodborne pathogens and OSHA regulations. Dr. Foster is on the Speakers’ Bureau for Merck, Pfizer and Sanofi-Pasteur.

PROGRAM PRICING:
- Member Pharmacist or Technician – $40 *
- Non-member Pharmacist or Technician – $65
* For members of State Pharmacists Associations in Alabama, Kentucky, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, Tennessee, or Virginia

REGISTRATION DETAILS: Each attendee must register for the program through the online registration process that you will receive in your confirmation e-mail after payment. However, the GoToWebinar web-based education format does permit attendees at a common practice site with the convenience of either participating through separate individual computers or participating with others through a shared computer.
